DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

3. Claim 1 recites the limitation "the layered silicate" in line 3. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

5. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Toru et al. (JP-053871).

JP '871 teaches a reinforced polymer and a method of making, the method comprising mixing the polymer (thermoplastic resin) with layer silicate particles under contact with a supercritical fluid, and depressurizing (reducing the pressure) the mixture (see abstract; claims).

In regards to claims 2-5, 10, JP '871 further teaches the supercritical fluid being carbon dioxide; the mixture under contact with the supercritical fluid at a pressure and temperature above its critical pressure and critical temperature, and maintaining contact for 10 hours (see abstract: page 4, paragraphs 0029-0032, 0039).

In regards to claims 6-8, 12, JP '871 teaches the silicate particles homogeneously dispersed in the polymer; and the silicate particles constitute 50-0.1% (see abstract: page 3, paragraph 0026). JP '871 further teaches the mixing includes shearing the silicate-polymer mixture (tumbler mixer) (see page 4, paragraph 0039).

In regards to claim 11, JP '871 teaches the supercritical fluid being pressurized at a pressure higher than the critical pressure and at 250oC of cylinder temperature (see page 4, paragraphs 0030, 0032, 0036). Although the reference is silent with respect to the supercritical fluid being pressurized specifically above about 1100 pounds per square inch gauge, since the supercritical fluid (carbon dioxide) and the temperature at pressurization of the reference are the same as those in the presently claimed invention, the pressure of the reference would also be inherently above about 1100 pounds per square inch gauge.
